TEEN PREGNANCY RATE PLUMMETS

Cabinet member for children and families hails 'fantastic achievement'

By Julia Gregory

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

THE teenage pregnancy rate in Haringey has more than halved between 2009 to 2013, government statistics reveal, cutting it from one of the highest rates in London to below the average for the capital and England.

In 2009, 171 teenage girls aged 18 and under fell pregnant, with 54 per cent of those pregnancies ended in abortions.

By 2013, the Office for National Statistics showed there were just 92 teenage pregnancies – but the rate of abortions had increased, with 64 per cent of teenagers opting for terminations.

Haringey Council said a dedicated plan to tackle the high rate of teenage pregnancies had helped see the number drop by 37 per cent, from 142 pregnancies, with 60 per cent of them terminated, in 2012, to 92 pregnancies the following year.

According to the government figures, 78 girls under the age of 16 conceived between 2011

Dramatic fall: Teenage pregnancies in Haringey between 2009 and 2013 and 2013, with 62 of these pregnancies ending in abortion.

The council said it has worked closely with teenagers and the wider community to help reduce the number of teenage pregnancies.

It developed a health and well-being mobile app called youngandhealthyharingey with information on sexual health and lifestyle choices.

It has also run workshops and training courses to help parents and professionals feel better equipped to talk to young people about sex and relationships.

Access to contraception and sexual health services has increased, with 25 pharmacies offering facilities borough-wide.

The reduction has also coincided with an improvement in exam rates in Haringey schools, the council said.

Ann Waters, the council's cabinet member with responsibility for children and families, said: "Teenage pregnancy has long since been recognised as a major cause and consequence of social exclusion. That's why halving teenage pregnancy in Haringey since 2009 is such a fantastic achievement."

She added: "What's made this approach so successful is the greater involvement of young people themselves – both in the design and promotion of services and by championing the innovative use of modern technology."

Did you witness assault on bus?

DETECTIVES have released images of a man who carried out a brutal attack which left a fellow passenger on a 134 bus in Muswell Hill with a broken nose.

Suspect: Police have released this CCTV image

They are hoping the public will recognise the thug who assaulted a 36-year-old man from photos taken by the double decker's on-board camera.

The attack happened at 11.10pm on Thursday, February 12. The suspect got off the bus in Muswell Hill and fled towards Archway Road. He is described as black and aged between 30 and 35 and was wearing dark clothing and a black beanie hat. He had deep scars across his nose and cheek.

The victim was taken by ambulance to a north London hospital and discharged later. Anyone with information is urged to call police on 101, quoting reference 2803355/15, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Lucky escape

FIVE people had a lucky escape from a fire in a flat in Bowes Park on Monday morning.

A fire brigade spokesman said the blaze, in Lascotts Road, may have been caused by an electric fire being placed too close to a sofa.

A smoke alarm in a communal hallway sounded the alarm and alerted residents to the fire at about 6.10am. About a quarter of the flat was damaged.

The blaze was dealt with by 21 firefighters from Hornsey, Southgate and Tottenham.

The five residents were treated for smoke inhalation.

Survivor of 7/7 attacks 'flattered' by OBE honour

A SURVIVOR of the 7/7 bombings and director of an award-winning Haringey-based women's charity has received the OBE she was awarded in the New Year's honours.

Sadja Mughal, of the JAN Trust, received her gong from Prince Charles at an investiture ceremony at Buckingham Palace.

On July 7, 2005, she had been a passenger on the Central line Tube train targeted in a terrorist attack in which 26 people died. She narrowly escaped injury.

The 32-year-old was 22 at the time and the terror attacks by fellow Muslims and the increasing rise in Islamophobia deeply affected her, prompting her to give up her high-flying City job to fight extremism.

She joined the JAN Trust, which has its headquarters in Bedford Road, Wood Green, as a director.

The charity caters mostly for women from ethnic minorities, including refugees and asylum seekers. Many of them do not speak English and lack skills.

The charity's aim is to help integrate them into society and teach them English, numeracy and how to write a CV.

The charity also promotes women's rights and works to empower and provide leadership.

Sadja is also the brains behind its Web Guardians project, which aims to stop young people being radicalised.

She said: "It is an honour to be awarded the OBE and to be recognised for the sensitive and much-needed work I have been carrying out for disadvantaged women and girls. I am flattered."

Honour: Sadja Mughal is presented with her OBE from Prince Charles

Activists gather to mark International Women's Day

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

ACTIVISTS, campaigners and battle-hardened frontline protesters joined forces to issue a call to arms to the borough to do more to protect women's and girls' rights.

The sounds of protest and injustice could be heard emanating from the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield Town, last Thursday as speakers including No More Page 3 founder Lucy Holmes told the groups gathered to celebrate International Women's Day about the power of activism.

Rounding off her presentation on ways in which an online campaign can grow and capture the headlines as well as the popular imagination, Miss Holmes told the delegates that it was "an exciting time for women" in terms of campaigns and activism that can make a real difference.

She explained that in the course of the campaign to get topless women out of the country's most widely-read newspaper, supporters of the cause had been brushed aside by some who said that the only people affected by the sexist images were those adults who chose to buy the paper.

"But we are all affected by a society that says shut up girls and get your tits out," she said.

Miss Holmes's campaign started on a www.change.org petition in

United front: The event at the Dugdale Centre last week

2012 with the simple proposition that: "Boobs aren't news".

Since its inception, more than 217,000 people have signed the petition and over the course of the last two-and-a-half years the campaign has never been far from the media spotlight as famous faces sported the iconic No More Page 3 T-shirts and major advertisers began to rethink their relationship with the paper.

Although in January, The Sun appeared to be dropping the feature – only to bring it back after a few days – it now seems that the naked women are gradually being phased out.

"We knew that The Sun would never let us have an outright victory," Miss Holmes told the Advertiser.

"When all our supporters were being interviewed in the week when it appeared that it had gone for good, I was still thinking, 'They're going to bring it back – just to show us they're in control of this situation and that if they want to get rid of it,

it will be on their terms'."

She credits the success of the campaign to the passion of her supporters.

Speaking to the Advertiser after her presentation on the ongoing situation in her native Nigeria, where militant group Boko Haram last year kidnapped 276 schoolgirls in the north of the country, fellow speaker Kate s said: "If you educate a man, you educate an individual – if you educate a girl, you educate a nation."

The former mayor of Enfield, who made an unsuccessful bid for the right to contest Edmonton for Labour in the forthcoming general election, is a veteran of grass-roots politics and has started her own charity, Tender Care, which helps vulnerable and young women care for their babies.

She is also heading up the Forum for African, Afro-Caribbean and Asian Women in Politics, which is aiming to get more black and ethnic minority women into positions of political influence.

She said: "As a midwife I know that no boy comes out with a flag on his head that says, 'I'm in charge'."

Mrs Anolue is holding an International Women's Day celebration in Broad House, in Fore Street, Edmonton, on March 26, starting at 7.30pm, featuring a speech from Labour prospective parliamentary candidate for Edmonton Kate Osamor.

Make them laugh: Questions for the panel came flooding in from the youngsters

It's good to talk: Pupils from Worcesters Primary School debated the motion: "This house believes that voting should be compulsory" at the Civic Centre

Young debaters are in good voice

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

SCORES of children from a primary school in the borough stepped up to the mark to pit their wits against their classmates this week.

On Monday morning in the Civic Centre, in Silver Street, Enfield, 60 ten and 11-year-olds from Worcesters Primary School, in Goat Lane, Enfield, swept into the main council chamber to take part in a heated debate over whether voting should be compulsory.

The children set out their arguments for and against the motion in front of an audience of dignitaries including the deputy mayor Pat Ekechi and the cabinet member for education and children's services Ayfer Orhan.

Praising the political passion of the youngsters, Ms Orhan said: "It is so important for children to have an understanding of our democracy and how it works. Well done to Worcesters for introducing this topic to their classes."

"This motion is a big one and we will all be interested to hear the arguments. I might even pick up a few tips from our young debaters."

Pupils fly the flag to mark a Commonwealth celebration

YOUNGSTERS from a primary school in Enfield Lock were chosen to represent children across the borough to mark Commonwealth Day.

The pupils from Prince of Wales school, in Salisbury Road, joined Enfield mayor Ali Bakir, Enfield Council leader Doug Taylor and the cabinet member for children Ayfer Orhan to hoist the Commonwealth Flag above the Civic Centre, in Silver Street, Enfield.

The 22 children raised one of 730 flags flown throughout the day on Monday.

For the first time in maritime history, the Commonwealth Flag was also raised on board all ships belonging to the fleets of the world's leading cruise lines, P&O and Cunard.

Mr Taylor said: "Promoting good international relations and friendship is an important part of living in the world today."

"I am delighted that we had a group of children joining us to witness an event that symbolises friendship – and demonstrates to them that it is important to encourage nations to live in harmony."

Murder accused remanded over fatal knife attack on student

A MAN charged with the murder of a 23-year-old student who was stabbed in an Edmonton street appeared at the Old Bailey on Friday and was further remanded to a date later this month.

Jeffery Kessie, 20, from Nuneaton, Warwickshire, is accused of the killing of father-of-one Khiry Ford in Haselbury Road on November 30.

The short hearing was scheduled to be an application to dismiss the charges against him.

However, counsel for the prosecution Emily Dummett told Judge Rebecca Maria Poulet QC that she and defence counsel Nick James had agreed that after fresh evidence had been presented the application would be made later in the month, on March 20.

Kessie is due to appear at the Old Bailey again for a plea and case management hearing on March 27 and the trial date has been set for May 18.

Non-identical twin brothers

Deo and Charles Tamale, 18, of St Edmund's Road, Edmonton, appeared in the dock beside Kessie. Both are charged with a robbery which is connected to Khiry's death.

Although all three are charged with separate offences, they will stand trial together. They were remanded in custody.

Boy, 13, stabbed man to death following rumpus

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A 13-YEAR-OLD boy has admitted killing a 53-year-old man outside a block of flats in Edmonton last year.

The teenager, who cannot be named for legal reasons, pleaded guilty to the murder of Christopher John Barry, on December 14 when he appeared at the Old Bailey on Friday afternoon.

Mr Barry was returning to his flat in Brickland Court, in The Broadway, when he was involved in an altercation with a group of youths.

He was stabbed and although paramedics battled to save his life he was pronounced dead at the scene shortly after 8.30pm.

The boy's parents looked on from the side of the court as the defendant, dressed in a blue shirt, pleaded guilty to one count of murder.

He is due to be sentenced on April 10 following pre-sentence reports.

Mr Barry's girlfriend, who was with him on the night of the fatal attack, was not in court.

However, some of his family members from Ireland, where he was originally from, were present to hear the accused enter his plea.

How did Kester come to die under a bridge?

Police seek answers as they try to trace key witnesses

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

POLICE have issued a new appeal for information about the unexplained death of a man more than four years ago.

The badly burned body of Kester David was found under a railway bridge in Broomfield Lane, Palmers Green, on Wednesday, July 7, 2010.

Detectives believe the 53-year-old bus driver, who lived in Russell Avenue, Wood Green, died in the early hours of that morning as a result of inhalation of fumes and severe burns.

At first police treated the death as suicide and dismissed the circumstances as non-suspicious.

However, after sustained lobbying from his family, who believe that police covered up his death because Mr David was a police informant, detectives re-opened the case in 2012.

Now police have issued an appeal to trace two men who were seen at 2.30 on the morning of Mr David's death in an alleyway near Maple Leaf Court, on the other side of the railway line from where his body was discovered.

One of the men was in a grey hoodie and was seen trying to get through a fence into the alleyway that runs at the side of Maple Leaf Court. Both men then walked to the right behind a red brick building.

In order to reach where Mr David was found, they would then have had to mount anti-climb fencing next to the railway line, cross the line and tackle another anti-climb fence. Police want to trace these men as they might have information crucial to the investigation.

They are also keen to talk to two white men, between 5ft 8ins to 5ft 11ins tall and of average build, who were seen walking across Morrisons' car park next to the Travis Perkins yard in Broomfield Lane at about 3.45 that morning.

They both walked towards the far corner of the car park, where there were charity recycling bins.

Detective Chief Inspector Noel McHugh, who is leading the investigation, said: "Were these two separate groups of men? Or in fact the same people seen on two occasions that night? "Even with the passage of time, I believe those individuals will recognise themselves from their actions, location and the significant appeals we have made around Kester's death.

"I would like to make it clear that my priority is investigating the circumstances of Kester's death. I am really keen to speak to you – you may not realise that you hold important information that would assist my investigation.

"Do you know anything or do you recognise yourself from the information given?"

Police are still keen to find what happened to Mr David's Blackberry Curve 8520 mobile phone, which has never been found.

Using mobile phone mast technology, police believe that it was turned on a week after his death on July 14 and 15 in the area around Wood Green shopping centre and on July 22 near the Whittington Hospital, in Archway, north London.

DCI McHugh added: "It may be that someone found the Blackberry or was given it and has since thrown it in a drawer and forgotten all about it or passed it to someone else.

"We need to find Kester's phone and the easiest way to identify it is via the IMEI number, found on a sticker underneath the battery.

"Please check if you found or were given a

Can you help: Police have issued a fresh appeal for information in relation to the death of Kester David Blackberry 8520 and it was locked or did not work." The IMEI number of the phone is 35943003791209.

The day before Mr David's death one of his relatives called him – but a mystery man answered the telephone.

Police want to trace this man as they believe he could have vital information about the last hours of Mr David's life.

Meanwhile, in a bid to trace the mystery author of an email sent to detectives in the weeks after Mr David's death, police have repeated appeals for someone who called themselves "Sharon Clarke" to come forward.

Two weeks after the tragedy, police received an email from this person, who appeared to know Mr David well and said she knew exactly who was responsible for his death.

Police have said they urgently need to hear from this person.

Anyone with information about Mr David's death can all the incident room on 020 8 85 8099 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Three men sought after knife attack

POLICE are hunting for three men after another man was chased into an Edmonton park where he suffered multiple stab injuries.

The 26-year-old victim was attacked at about 4.30pm in Pymmes Park on Wednesday afternoon last week.

He was stabbed in the arm, legs and back and is being treated in hospital in east London. His injuries are not thought to be life-threatening.

Police said two of the suspects are black and in their early 20s and were wearing dark clothes.

Detective Constable Andrew Reason, from Enfield CID, said: "This was a busy time of day with schoolchildren and shoppers out in the area."

He appealed for witnesses to call Enfield CID on 101 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Hospital staff with families can stay – until the summer

But those without children must be out by the end of the month

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

HOSPITAL workers who were facing eviction at the end of the month have been given a last-minute reprieve.

As reported in the Advertiser earlier this year, doctors, nurses and other key workers at Chase Farm Hospital, in The Ridgeway, Enfield, were due to be evicted by the Royal Free Hospital Trust, which now owns the site, on March 31.

The trust wanted the workers out of the housing so progress could be made with plans to develop the site – and had given the staff a deadline of March 31 to leave.

However, at the 11th hour, the trust has extended the tenancies of staff with children until July 31 after Joan Ryan, Labour's prospective parliamentary candidate for Enfield North, lobbied government ministers to give workers more time to find alternative accommodation in the area and prevent a mass exodus of staff from the hospital.

The concession addresses one of the primary concerns of workers with families, who feared they would be disrupting their children's education by moving halfway through the school year.

However, those staff who do not have children still must leave their properties by the original deadline at the end of this month.

Andrew Panniker, the trust's director of capital and estates, told the staff of the decision in a letter dated March 5.

Ms Ryan, who has led the campaign on behalf of the workers, said that she welcomed the "small but welcome" concession from the hospital trust.

She added: "It is unbelievable that anyone would think it appropriate to evict staff and their children from their homes during the school year."

"However, this new agreement should be extended to everyone and it is unacceptable that many frontline staff living on the site without children have not had the July deadline offered to them as well."

But a spokesman from the Royal Free, in Hampstead, said that the extension could not be offered to all key workers currently living on the site because the trust needs as many properties as possible vacant before the redevelopment of the site can begin.

He added that Chase Farm is losing about £1million every 17 days through sky-high maintenance costs and "inefficiencies".

"We need to act quickly so that this money can instead go towards providing the very best health-

'Unacceptable': Joan Ryan welcomed the news – but argued that those without families should also be allowed to stay care for the local community," he said. "From when we first notified tenants in July 2014, we have made one-to-one support available to help them find new accommodation and we have also offered an ex-gratia payment to those who agree to leave by March 31."

"We therefore feel we have been more than fair in our dealings with those affected."

When the new hospital complex is completed, there will be accommodation for 90 key workers.

Nick de Bois, the MP for Enfield North, welcomed the fact that almost 100 workers will be accommodated on the new site.

He said: "In absolute terms, the proposed site provision would ostensibly serve to alleviate pressure on Enfield Council's housing register."

All systems go for new primary school

'Delighted':
Gonul Daniels

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

PARENTS in the west of the borough are celebrating the announcement that a new primary school has been given the green light.

The South West Enfield Action Team has been lobbying the council and the government for two years to increase the number of primary school places in the Southgate and Fox Lane area.

After local authority was unable to expand over-subscribed primary Walker Primary School, in Waterfall Road, Southgate, and in establishing an annex to another primary, in Grovelands Park, Ashmole Academy in Cecil Road, Southgate, has been given the go-ahead to set up a free school.

Free schools operate outside local authority control and can be set up by any organisation.

As an academy, Ashmole has experience of running schools independently.

Gonul Daniels, the chairwoman of SWEAT, has told the Advertiser that this is a victory for "parent power".

"I am delighted about this announcement as are all the parents within SWEAT," she said.

"The site is about half-a-mile from where I live and it will be perfect for people who live in Fox Lane and The Mall."

She added that the new school would mean that pressure on places at Walker School would be reduced dramatically and it might now be possible for people living close to the school to get places there for their children.

"Our campaign for this started two years ago and we are so pleased that finally we have seen a proper boost in school places in our area," she added.

The school is due to open in September next with 60 children in two reception classes.

Derek Brown, the headteacher of Ashmole Academy, said: "Everyone here is delighted. I have been inundated with emails. People are so pleased that the primary school has been given the go-ahead.

He explained that the school grounds are spread across 28 acres and he will be able to create a "campus-style" environment.

"This is a really exciting approach to education as it means that although the primary and secondary schools are separate, staff and resources can be shared across them," added Mr Brown.

Chickenshed Theatre

NO sooner do I hang up my guitar after our first spring show Changing Stages, which closed on Sunday, than we begin our Just Theatre season this Thursday.

I tend to take for granted how extremely diverse our work is. After all, Changing Stages saw a cast of more than 700 showcasing a dazzling medley of performances – who else would have a cast that big?

Both our next two shows place questions of justice centre stage with stories about people, relationships, loss and hope for the future.

We open with a play by Paul Morrall, our director of education, who is passionate about giving young people a voice and the opportunity to go into the world with hope and confidence. Entitled 12:one, it is a tense courtroom drama telling the story of a young girl accused of killing her abusive stepfather.

Set in a not-too-distant future society, this is an apparently open and shut case where a guilty verdict would mean the death penalty. The jurors deliberate, with only one finding the courage to stand alone and question the girl's circumstances and the failures of society and the system to protect her.

Our second play under the Just Theatre banner is As The Mother of a Brown Boy..., a piece of physical theatre created in 2007 following the death of one of our students. It is not the story of a boy drawn to the wrong side of the tracks, rather a human story of choices made and decisions taken – and their consequences.

Both pieces show how important it is to listen to our young people – to show that there can be a future, there is hope and that we care.

Stay safe if you're planning to watch eclipse

ON the morning of March 20, we will have a large partial solar eclipse.

This may well be the only one I will ever see from my own front door.

Since 1979, I have travelled the world to see 16 eclipses.

The first, in Canada on February 26, 1979, was also in the same Saros series – 120 – as this one and it was also Saros 120 in February 1961, which I remember when I was a lot younger than I am now.

While I could have gone on a ship to see this one as a total eclipse, the weather prospects are not good in that area. Of my 16 eclipses, only two failed due to cloud – Cornwall 1999 and Shanghai 2009.

On a more serious note, readers should take note that this eclipse can cause eye damage or blindness if the correct filters are not used.

Forget film negatives, smoked glass etc, these are not safe. You can get eclipse filters which will be OK if used correctly.

Please note that Hampstead Observatory is now open on Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday mornings.

Venus and Jupiter are well placed now. Admission is free.

Members of the public are also welcome to attend our lectures, which I arrange.

Details of the society can be found at www.hampsteadscience.ac.uk

This can help relieve pressure on our city

MR King asks who first invented the idea of having a mini-Holland in Enfield ("Whose bright ideas was it?", Opinion, March 4).

It's probably simplest if he starts with the (statutory) mayor's transport strategy; works through the mayor's vision for cycling; and ends with the (draft) London Infrastructure Plan 2050 before finally looking at the bipartisan mini-Holland bid submitted on behalf of the borough of Enfield. Several other relevant papers can be safely skipped.

Hopefully, he will start to understand the many pressures (and opportunities) facing London and which sensibly require early action – water, where a worsening net deficit means we will all inevitably have meters; housing, where densities will increase; energy, where unit costs will increase along with a powerful drive towards energy-saving measures; climate, where mitigation will include more greening and protection against flash floods; and, specifically, transport, where the expectation of a doubling of public transport journeys and a 40 per cent uplift in congestion alone cries out for change.

For simplicity, ignore air quality, fitness, obesity, (legal) carbon dioxide reduction targets and more. There is no status quo option, which is made clear with a fallback scenario of road charging were a cycling-centric solution not to prove effective.

He will note the intent that mini-Holland projects will be rolled out across all London boroughs during the period of the plan. Best we all now try to make the best use of our resources.

Everyone pays for our roads

SO G Musey ("It's motorists, not cyclists, who pay the lion's share", Opinion, February 25) thinks that motorists pay more general taxation than cyclists because motorists pay tax on petrol, garage bills, MOTs, insurance etc.

He/she goes on to add that motorists therefore pay more toward road maintenance and building. How on earth does he/she arrive at that conclusion? A cyclist G Musey passes in his/her car may be paying a vast amount of tax from their salary, property, investments, smoking and so on, more than he/she perhaps.

General taxation is just that, and nothing to do with direct expenditure on roads. It is just a big pot of money that the government dips into for schools, hospitals, roads or whatever. The road is known as the public highway because it is just that – provided for everybody through general tax collected.

Back to the car versus bicycle debate. G Musey calls cycling an activity and says it's free. How insulting. To me, it is a vital mode of transport that I use every day rather than my car.

I pay taxes, so it's not free. Cars cause untold pollution and on average require three times as much road space as cycles. They wear out the road surface, pollute and often injure or kill.

G Musey then reminds cyclists how they should cycle. I'd like to remind drivers that they should move well out when overtaking a cyclist – and not try to squeeze between a cyclist and a central traffic island.

The council must push ahead with its planned cycle ways. It is right to give the safety of cyclists priority over cars.

Meanwhile, as some drivers continue to object to the planned cycle scheme, cyclists will continue to be injured and killed on our roads.

I'm a victim of discrimination!

MAY I through your columns express my annoyance at Fusion, the company running our leisure centres.

Having paid a huge sum for a yearly card, I attended the newly formed Over 50s Forum day on Tuesdays for a sauna and swim.

When I had changed, I innocently entered the pool on my way to the sauna. There were sharp exclamations by a woman and a Fusion employee – and I was told this was a women-only session from 10am to noon.

I was annoyed as there was not much more on offer and I needed to get away.

I vented my annoyance to some friends and nearly told the manager about this sexist attitude towards men.

But common sense prevailed and I dressed and left.

Radical steps must be taken

THE budget meeting on February 25 spent considerable time discussing the alarming increase in the number of families in temporary accommodation in the borough, currently standing at 2,600 households.

The cost of housing these families is estimated to cost £7.7million in 2015/16 – the largest single cost pressure facing the council.

Enfield is also facing a huge influx of homeless families from other parts of London, placed mainly by Barnet, Haringey and Waltham Forest councils.

In 2014/15, Enfield will receive about 1,600 such families, who compete for the private rented accommodation available and drive rent levels ever upwards.

This also places severe pressure on our schools and health service.

Radical steps need to be taken by the council to move homeless families out of expensive bed and breakfast accommodation in Enfield, which is costing the council tax payer a small fortune, to cheaper more permanent rented accommodation outside the M25.

Last year Southwark, a Labour council, moved about 1,800 families out of the borough.

Enfield moved precisely none. This has to change.

Shop is a bitter blow for pub campaigners

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

CAMPAIGNERS desperate to protect an historic pub from falling victim to developers fear that their efforts have been in vain after it emerged the site's new owners could be planning to transform the watering hole into a bric-a-brac shop.

Mike McLean, 43, of Winchmore Hill, started up a petition on the 38 degrees website last month after the former owners of the Green Dragon, in Green Lanes, Winchmore Hill, sold off the pub and Thai restaurant to a development and investment company.

Although the number of signatures on the petition has almost broken the 4,000 mark, when Mike looked in through the windows of the abandoned pub last week he was shocked to see shelves lined with bric-a-brac and general household products.

"We have been focusing on getting the site accredited as an asset of community value which would mean developers could not just turn it into the most lucrative way of making money," he told the Advertiser, "but when I saw that it looked like the developers might be trying to turn it into a short-term pop-up shop I was shocked. It is not what the area needs at all."

The campaign group is now lobbying councillors to get on side with the fight to keep the landmark Tudor-style building on the corner of Green Lanes and Vicars Moor Lane as a pub, as it has been for the past 300 years.

"David Burrows has been helping us out and has tried to get a meeting with the new owners of the site, but at the moment they have not committed to anything," Mike added.

The pub was sold by Enterprise Inns earlier this year and, according to Mike, a company called Green Lanes Investments LLP has taken over the freehold.

However, when the Advertiser tried to contact the new owners they were not known at the address listed as their registered office and board members of the company PPR Estates would not confirm their involvement in the company.

"To us it seems as if it has all been quite underhand - it has all been done without the community's knowledge or involvement," Mike said.

"My wife has been a huge help to me with this campaign, but we are just an ordinary couple with a young family. We don't have the resources to battle against a big developer."

In a bid to galvanise everyone in Winchmore Hill against losing the pub for good, Mike is urging people to sign the petition on you.38degrees.org.uk/petitions/save-the-green-dragon-winchmore-hill

Cloudy2Clear Windows - Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Richard Power feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and Richard is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

Cult leader denies raping and imprisoning followers

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE former leader of a Maoist cult has denied that he raped and imprisoned three of his followers over the course of 30 years.

Aravindan Balakrishnan, 74, of Latymer Road, Edmonton, pleaded not guilty at Southwark Crown Court last week to 19 counts of indecent assault, one count of cruelty to a person under the age of 16, four counts of rape and one count of false imprisonment. The offences relate to three women, one British, one Irish and one Malaysian, and are said to have taken place between 1980 and 2013.

It is alleged the women were part of a far-left communist sect Balakrishnan and were held against their will as part of a political collective.

Balakrishnan, who was arrested at his former home in Brixton, south London, in 2013, was bailed and is due to return to court for a pre-trial hearing on September 23.

Voluntary Role Vacancies Chair and Vice Chair

Safer Neighbourhood Boards (SNB) have been set up across London as a community-led mechanism that holds Borough Police Command Units to account for performance.

The Chair and Vice Chair will work with a wide range of local organisations, residents and young people to ensure the focus of police and key partners includes the community safety priorities of local people.

Haringey has a strong Safer Neighbourhood Board and is now seeking to recruit a Chair and Vice Chair with the following:

- Skilled at bringing people together to generate a strong team spirit, able to work collaboratively, building consensus and encouraging decision making
- Ability to understand complex information, demonstrate clear analytical intellect and guide rational decision making

The appointments are initially for a two-year term, effective from April 2015.

The roles are voluntary and likely to average a commitment of 12 working days per annum. There is a minimal expense allowance and the Chair and Vice Chair will be supported by the SNB Support Officer.

To obtain an application pack or further details, please contact Deborah Williams at: dcw@havcoharingey.org.uk

'It's an accident waiting to happen'

By Julia Gregory

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

CONCERNED parents have branded motorists' behaviour at a busy Enfield zebra crossing as a danger to pedestrians.

Joe and Jojo Bailey have called for improvements to the crossing after getting fed up with motorists failing to stop even when pedestrians were already making their way across Baker Street.

In one incident, they said a bus continued driving over the crossing even though they were trying to cross the road with their two-year-old twin boys.

They claim that the driver made a rude gesture and have reported the incident to Transport for London, which is investigating.

Mr Bailey said he is concerned about the crossing and has witnessed vehicles failing to stop for pedestrians.

He said: "Baker Street is a treacherous road. The road is too fast and too dangerous. Vehicles of all nature regularly seem to speed along Baker Street and fail to stop for pedestrians at the crossing."

He added: "There are several schools, an old people's home and shops either side of the road. This crossing is an accident or death waiting to happen. It is one of the most dangerous crossings that I have encountered."

His wife said: "It's very dangerous. Something needs to be done before there's an accident. It's bound to be a child as there are schools in the area."

Mr Bailey proposes changing the crossing, perhaps by raising it.

"If it was raised, people would have to slow down," he added.

Motorists who fail to stop for pedestrians who are on zebra crossings face three penalty points on their licence and a fine.

Mr Bailey welcomed the idea of a police campaign, but said it would only slow drivers down while officers were present.

The couple have contacted Enfield North MP Nick de Bois about his concerns and raised them with Mayor of London Boris Johnson's office and Enfield Council.

Ken Davidson, head of bus operations at TfL, said: "The safety of our customers and other road users is our top priority and we expect every bus driver to carry out their duties in a professional and attentive manner at all times."

A Metroline spokesman said that the bus company took safety seriously and confirmed it was investigating the Baileys' complaint.

Local businesses urged: Act now to get a government grant to boost your business with Superfast Broadband London businesses are being urged to act now to get a government grant of up to £3,000 to upgrade their internet speeds. And with the Government's rollout of superfast broadband predicted to create 20,000 jobs and add £6.3 billion to the UK economy a year by 2024, it's clear that businesses have a lot to gain.

Currently, London is one of only 22 cities where businesses are eligible to apply for connection vouchers worth up to £3,000 boost their broadband.

There are now 3,672 businesses in London who have grants to upgrade thanks to the connection vouchers scheme. London is doing well, securing a good share of the 10,000 vouchers issued overall, but local businesses still have time to access their share of the funding.

Businesses like video production house Kinamo, based in Tech City, have already seen the benefits. Kinamo's business means that it is constantly uploading videos for its clients to review - and uploading again after each new round of editorial changes has been made. That's huge amounts of video data each week. "Our reaction time has to be really quick," explains Kinamo's other co-founder Phil Doherty. Kinamo used broadband connection vouchers to install a wireless solution which gave Kinamo a dedicated connection. "What had taken us eight hours to upload now took us ten minutes," says Doherty. "It was the perfect solution."

Ed Vaizey, Minister for the Digital Economy, said: "Thousands of businesses have already taken up their vouchers and are now enjoying all the benefits of a faster internet connection. I encourage all of London's businesses to do the same and ensure their business is properly equipped to meet the challenges of the digital age."

Superfast broadband will mean you can do business faster, contact customers more quickly and it'll be easier for you to keep up with and install the latest technology - future-proofing your business and making sure you can keep up with your customers' demands - and your competitors.

Each Voucher covers up to £3,000 of installation costs but businesses can also apply as a group to connect bigger or more complicated premises. Once installed, businesses pay the line rental and VAT.

To apply for a broadband grant is easy, businesses simply enter their postcode at www.connectionvouchers.co.uk to check eligibility, choose a supplier and fill in an application form or pick an off the shelf deal with no forms to fill in. Commercial landlords can also apply.

"A government broadband grant delivered superfast results"

Jake Powley, Director of Kinamo Films

Businesses can now get a grant of up to £3,000 to upgrade to a superfast connection. This pays for the installation costs; you just pay VAT and the monthly line rental. To find out more, visit connectionvouchers.co.uk

Kayleigh's a Chelsea girl ...for a day

On the ball: Kayleigh Coenraad, right, training with Chelsea

By Henry Ellis

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A FOOTBALLER from Enfield won the chance to train with stars from the top flight of the women's game in England.

Kayleigh Coenraad was in the Kingston University Ladies team who won a nationwide search, launched by Chelsea's sponsor Gazprom, for an amateur team to join the Women's Super League side to mark International Women's Day.

The 21-year-old, who studies law with business, took to the pitch at the Blues' Surrey base in Cobham on Sunday with her team-mates and was given an insight into what it takes to become a top player.

The session was overseen by players including former England international Gemma Davison and Chelsea Ladies manager Emma Hayes, who was impressed by Kayleigh's skills.

"All the Kingston girls were fantastic and I hope Kayleigh got a lot out of the day," she said. "They came with a brilliant attitude and we certainly enjoy hosting days like that. I wanted to get across to her how many opportunities there are in sport for women now."

"It's great that Chelsea and Gazprom gave this amateur women's team such a great opportunity. It was a great way to celebrate International Women's Day and women's football in general."

To win the session, the university team had impressed with their application, dedication and desire.

Kayleigh said: "It was absolutely fantastic and I had such a great time meeting the players and getting to learn a bit about professional football from them."

"They play at the highest level, but were so down to earth and happy to chat and have a kick-around with us."

Appearing in Billy Elliot the Musical: Enfield schoolgirl Lillie-Mae Stewart

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

Lillie-Mae, ten, steps into Billy Elliot shoes

By Julia Gregory

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A YOUNG dancer has made her West End debut in the hit show Billy Elliot the Musical. Ten-year-old Lillie-Mae Stewart took to the stage at the Victoria Palace Theatre on Monday.

She is playing the role of Margaret Gormley, who goes to a dance school.

The show is based on the 2000 film and has won four Olivier awards since its West End premiere in 2005. The music is by Elton John.

Lillie-Mae will be performing in three shows a week for the next few months and will also be attending her lessons at St Michael's Primary School, in Brigadier Hill, Enfield.

She has been fitting her school work in around rehearsals and reading school work on the Tube during her journeys to the theatre, in Victoria.

Her mother Sabie Stewart, from Oakwood, said: "She's been dancing since she was three and she is very busy – she attends several dance schools and a gym class.

"She's very excited about appearing in Billy Elliot. She's really loving it. She likes performing."

Last year Lillie-Mae won the mayor of Enfield's public speaking award, talking about the need to teach dance and drama in every secondary school.

She has also appeared in a video with singer Michael Buble.

Can they dig it?: Volunteers prepare to plant 14 fruit trees in Arnos Park

Orchard scheme is good to grow

By Henry Ellis

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A COMMUNITY group helped to plant a new orchard on the site of an abandoned playground. Charity Helping Britain Blossom joined members of the Friends of Arnos Park to plant 14 fruit trees.

The playground in the park had fallen into disrepair and had become a magnet for antisocial behaviour before the volunteers pitched in to plant the trees last Sunday.

Alison Lister, of the friends' group, who led the project, said: "The land has been unused for more than five years, encouraging litter and drug use. The new orchard will bring the community closer together and create a space that everyone can enjoy."

"It will be a great educational resource for schools and leave a legacy for future generations. We hope it will encourage older people in the community and those with disabilities to volunteer as there are a number of health benefits related to orcharding.

"We are very grateful to our wonderful group of volunteers and Helping Britain Blossom for helping to make this happen."

Merrin Layden, from Helping Britain Blossom, said: "This is the first exciting step in turning this disused plot of land into a thriving community orchard. Orchards are a great way of bringing locals together. Everybody can play their part, however big or small, to create an area for all of the community to enjoy."

"It's great to see a community of people working together to make their area a better place to live, work and enjoy. We look forward to hearing about the positive impact it has on the area."

The new orchard is one of 100 set to be created and restored across the UK by 2017 thanks to Helping Britain Blossom. Visit www.helpingbritainblossom.org.uk for more information.

YOU ARE INVITED TO

A FREE ASSESSMENT AND VALUATION DAY

You are invited to attend our assessment, valuation and purchase day, where TOP PRICES are agreed and offered.

Just bring along your chosen items; our valuer will give you a free appraisal and a current estimation of value. We will then discuss your best course of action and either make an offer of purchase or provide advice on your other options.

Antiques television programmes have made people more aware of the potential value of their belongings, however, the best method of realising the true cash value is not always made clear.

There are many items that are not so obviously valuable and this is where the professional valuer's expertise comes in.

There are times when the exposure of an auction is beneficial – let our experts help you to decide, but many items, where a known or intrinsic value can be simply assessed such as Gold, are just not suited for sale at auction.

Without advice, auctions can actually LOSE you money. After weeks of waiting, and assuming your item sells - commission charges, premiums and taxes reduce your likely share to only two thirds of the total transaction payment!

This is how we are able to offer you a high purchase figure as there's no premium for us and NO STOPPAGES for you, just an immediate cash settlement.

COMPETITION

Mum's the word!

PALMERS GREEN eyecare experts are offering readers the chance to win a pair of designer specs worth up to £169 in honour of Mother's Day.

The community optical specialists from Specsavers, located at the state-of-the-art Green Lanes store in Palmers Green, are giving away three pairs of stylish single vision lens specs from ranges including Karl Lagerfeld, Gok Wan and Ultralight.

So, if you're a yummy mummy, a gorgeous gran or you want to treat the mother figure in your life, this is the competition for you.

Jaswinder Singh Nagra, store director at Specsavers Palmers Green, says: 'Mother's Day is a time for us to celebrate the mother figures in our lives and we wanted to do our bit to help spoil mother figures in our area.'

Specsavers in Palmers Green, which now boasts iPad-dispensing capabilities and a magic mirror – allowing customers to compare different styles and angles at once – is also offering free eye tests to all customers.

To be in with a chance of winning a pair of designer specs, simply answer the following question:

What is Mother's Day also known as – Mothering Sunday, Mothering Monday, or Mothering Tuesday?

Attention: DENTURE WEARERS Attention: DENTURE REPAIRS

If you are a denture wearer then this article may be of some interest to you!
If you can relate to any of the following questions then it is a sign your denture needs attention:

- DO YOU FIND YOUR DENTURES:
- Do not fit as well on your gums as they used to?
 - Are they loose?
 - Do not cut food as well as they used to?
 - Do they make your face look older?
 - Have discoloured despite meticulous cleaning or
 - Cause discomfort/pain on chewing?

If any of the above breeds familiar territory then I may be able to alleviate some of these problems for you.

My name is Caroline Persaud I am a qualified CLINICAL DENTAL TECHNICIAN. Many of you may be aware of Dental Technicians/Mechanics who repair and produce dentures for dentists, however, due to recent changes in the Dental law, a group of Dental Care Professionals known as Clinical Dental Technicians have been approved by the General Dental Council and can now see denture wearers who have no natural teeth remaining, directly without having to visit a dentist.

The advantages to you, the patients, are numerous. You can be treated by a professional who has been clinically trained to undertake the impressions of your mouth and who also has the technical skill to manufacture your denture to meet your requirements.

A more direct, rapid and personalised service, that can be delivered to you in the comfort of your own home or at my day clinic in Edmonton.

If you wish to discuss any denture related issues please do not hesitate to contact me on:

FAMILY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Magnificent seven

Betty celebrates her 107th birthday as one of care home's centenarians

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

AN old folks' home has its own select "ton-up" club comprising seven residents amazingly all aged 100 years or older.

Springview Care Home, in Crescent Road,
Enfield, threw a party last week to celebrate the 107th birthday of its oldest resident, Lily "Betty"
Winter – and among the guests were its six other centenarians, three of whom have reached the remarkable milestone in the last few months.

The combined ages of all seven totals
710 years.

Family, friends and staff also gathered to toast
Lily last Friday. She was born one of twins in 1908 in a house just 200 yards from the care home in Waverley Road.

She has remained a resident of the borough all her life, having formerly lived as a youngster with her twin brother and two younger sisters in nearby Slades Hill before later caring for her elderly mother in the home they shared in The Ridgeway, Enfield.

After her mother's death, Lily moved at the age of 62 to live in Lyndhurst Gardens, Enfield.

"As the unmarried spinster sister she was stuck at home doing her duty," said her nephew, Richard Brewster, 69, "but after her mother's death she took on a new lease of life and began travelling.

"She had been sent to finishing school in Switzerland when she was younger and frequently travelled there and across Europe. She was a bit of a pioneer because this was before the days of package holidays."

Even in her late 90s, Lily was making trips on her own to Eastbourne on the Sussex coast to go to concerts by her favourite performer, international organist and entertainer John Mann.

"She loves children and was a long-standing

Party time: Betty Winter

parishioner at Christ Church United Reformed Church, in Chase Side," added her nephew. "She was affectionately known as 'Betty' all her life and is probably remembered by generations of children as their Sunday school teacher."

Mr Brewster says he doesn't know the secret of his aunt's long life, but she has never smoked and her only tipple is a glass of sherry at Christmas.

Among other guests at her party was former heir to the Pearsons department store chain Christine Henderson and her husband Robert, who know Lily from when she used to dine daily at the restaurant at the shop in Enfield Town.

□ Springview's other centenarians are Rose Shickle, Emma Vincent and Lillian Caron, all of whom are 101 years old, and Grace Fricker, Thelma Benson and Irene McBride, who are aged 100.

Spitting fines are expected to rise

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

MORE people are dodging fines for spitting in Enfield than anywhere else in London with similar bans on the habit.

Since a by-law was introduced in 2013 only 14 people have been prosecuted in the borough after the over-50s forum started a petition in 2010 to get spitting outlawed.

While the figures in Enfield are quite modest, Waltham Forest and Newham – who both issue fixed penalty notices for spitting – have scooped up 42 and 634 fines respectively, according to the London Evening Standard newspaper.

The power to issue spitting fines of up to £80 through fixed penalty notices has been extended to all London boroughs after Eric Pickles, the Secretary for State for Communities and Local Government, gave the go-ahead to proposals drawn up by London Councils' transport and environment committee.

Chris Bond, Enfield's cabinet member for environment and community safety, defended the low prosecution rate and said: "We are incredibly proud that we obtained the first legal ban on spitting in the UK since 1992 and have successfully prosecuted a number of people for spitting in our borough. However, other local authorities have taken the view that they will deal with spitting through the use of issuing fixed penalty notices."

"Since it was agreed that fixed penalty notices could be issued for spitting across London, we will be adopting this approach from April and we expect the number of sanctions handed out for spitting in this borough to increase."

Excerpt from one of many customer letters

We would like you to know how delighted we are with the recent installation of our windows. After much looking around we chose Oakwood Windows and are appreciative of the help and guidance given prior to our final decision.

We are certainly impressed with the quality of the windows and the standard of workmanship. The installation crew were meticulous in their approach and courteous.

They respected our property and each evening left everywhere clean and tidy.

Many thanks for a highly satisfactory outcome.

We would not hesitate to recommend your company to others.

SIMON and Garfunkel are one of most successful musical duos of all time.

Their beautiful harmonies and poignant lyrics provided a memorable soundtrack of the 1960s and 1970s.

The film The Graduate and the songs they contributed to it – Mrs Robinson and Sound of Silence – brought them worldwide fame.

And the talented folk-rock duo guaranteed themselves iconic status when Bridge Over Troubled Water remained the best selling album in the world for a three-year period from 1970-72.

The fascinating tale of how two boyhood friends from Queens in New York became international superstars is told in The Simon and Garfunkel Story, a theatrical tribute show being performed at Millfield Theatre, in Edmonton, tomorrow night (Thursday).

Direct from London's West End, award-winning actor Dean Elliott (Buddy Holly in Buddy The Musical) plays

Double delight: Dean Elliott, right, as Paul Simon, with Jonny Smart, alias Art Garfunkel

Paul Simon, while Jonny Smart, complete with his own mop of blond curls, plays Art Garfunkel.

They are the perfect pairing, capturing the evocative vocal harmonies that were their hallmark, ably assisted by a three-piece band.

The show mixes video footage and projected images of one of American history's most turbulent periods which shaped the duo's songwriting, including the Vietnam War, race riots, JFK, the KKK and peace demos.

All their classic hits are covered – Scarborough Fair, Cecilia, Homeward Bound, 59th St Bridge Song (Feelin' Groovy), The Boxer and the forementioned Mrs Robinson, Sound of Silence, and, of course, Bridge Over Troubled Water – and even the solo years are covered with Simon's 50 Ways to Leave Your Lover and Graceland.

It's a must-see slice of nostalgia for any aficionado and sure to make new fans of the uninitiated.

Four and five bedroom family homes adjoining open fields in Buntingford

Larkfield Rise is a pleasantly situated cul de sac adjoining open fields on the edge of the pretty market town of Buntingford. Built by Hertfordshire Developer Matthew Homes, the 16 four and five bedroom family homes have double garages, landscaped front gardens and fitted kitchens with gas and electrical appliances.

Recently launched, there are five different house types available to choose from according to price range and individual preferences. 4 bedroom houses are on the market from £485,000, whilst five bedroom house prices start from £560,000. A Show Home is available to view.

The town offers a variety of local Shops, supermarkets, pubs and restaurants. Leisure facilities, clubs and societies are excellent both in and around the town and include local football, rugby, netball and swimming clubs. East Herts golf club is at nearby Hamels Park. Many other societies including a local dramatic society, art society and toddler group are also available to join.

Buntingford is immediately accessible from the A10 linking Cambridge and London and the M25. Stansted Airport is within easy reach and rail services to both London (Kings Cross) and Cambridge are available from nearby Royston. Schooling is well catered for with two primary, one middle and one upper school.

To make an appointment to find out more about these perfectly located family homes please telephone 01992 663890 or email salesherts@lanesnewhomes.co.uk.

Help to buy is available on this scheme subject to status and usual Terms and Conditions.

Room for manoeuvre

By Matt Kimberley

THE C4 has a lot going for it, but upgrades were needed for it to stay with the pack. Tweaks to the headlights and styling details are more or less the extent of the exterior changes, but quality is on an upward trend with new technology and media interface options.

Citroen is quickly rejuvenating an identity: comfort. The press release accompanying the car's launch is crammed full of the word. Citroen is really beginning to feel like a different brand from its sister company Peugeot – and that's good news for both.

The C4 has what you'd call an aggressively French front end. Steeply angled headlight clusters give off an angry vibe, but the rest of the shape is pretty warm and fuzzy. It's a good-looking car, but you'd have a tough time arguing that it matches class leaders for image.

On the other hand, Citroen is doing everything it can to make its brand identity synonymous with comfort.

Soon enough the French firm hopes that anyone looking for a comfortable everyday car will make Citroen their first stop.

You can't argue with the numbers. The C4 has comfortably the biggest boot among its direct rivals at 408 litres. That's seven per cent or 28 litres bigger than a Volkswagen Golf's. The Skoda Octavia's is bigger again, but that's a much longer car.

In the front door pockets, you'll find space for those chunky 1.5-litre drinks bottles you find at motorway service stations and takeaways.

The glove box can fit many gloves in it and the only real oversight is that when you pull the floor-mounted luggage net in the boot upwards, it can bring the whole floor with it.

The petrol and diesel models are surprisingly different to drive. The lighter petrol engine links to an over-light, elastic-feeling steering set-up that doesn't inspire confidence, but the diesel's calibration is more linear, more predictable and gives you the impression of more feel.

In total opposition to Peugeot's approach with the 308, the C4's steering is snail-slow. It takes more turning action to get this car turned in – an impression exaggerated by the huge steering wheel.

The new automated manual gearbox is, thankfully, a vast improvement over previous units. You'd seriously consider buying one, now.

This C4 rides very well, too, especially over smoothly undulating folds in the road. Flex in the suspension means that sharper bumps can knock it slightly off its line, especially in corners, but not by an exceptional amount. The C4 is a decently refined cruiser, especially for such a relatively reasonable asking price.

Seeing the range top out at a whisker over £20,000 is a surprise. Rivals cost significantly more and you'd argue that there's not much about the C4, in high-end flair trim at least, that feels particularly cheap. You get a lot of space for your pound, too, and especially in the case of the diesel you get super-low running costs.

This would suit a family who prioritise comfort and budget. Five useful seats, lots of standard safety equipment and even more on the options list make it very handy. But it's also a confident cruiser and will return decent fuel economy if driven steadily, so company car buyers might want to take a look.

Facts at a glance

■ Model: Citroen C4 1.2 PureTech 130 Flair, from £18,245

■ Engine: Turbocharged three-cylinder petrol, producing 128bhp and 170lb/ft

■ Transmission: Six-speed manual driving the front wheels

■ Performance: Top speed 124mph, 0-62mph in 10.8 seconds

■ Fuel economy: 58.9mpg (16-inch wheels)

■ Emissions: 110g/km (16-inch wheels)

We'll give you the best of both worlds...every week, all week!

In this rapidly moving technological age people are finding new ways to advertise, especially online via the internet. But contrary to what online sites are saying and common assumptions, print advertising is not dead. There are still benefits and disadvantages to both methods and the best way to succeed is to find a vehicle that covers both bases - and that's where we come in!

The Benefits of print advertising:

1. Print adverts last longer and will be seen often.
2. They will be seen by a large number of people and have the ability to hit a specific audience.
3. There is a more creative potential with print advertising.
4. There is a positive perception of newspaper advertising - it will encourage people to think the client is serious.

The Benefits of online advertising:

1. The advert content can be easily updated.
2. It's online 24/7, 12 months a year, all round the world.
3. A massive audience, with all ages now online.
4. Very quick response - you can be receiving candidates hours after posting your advert.

The Advertiser series of newspapers is distributed every week and the latest editions can be found on our website at 2hrs, Monday-Friday, term-time only.

Cuckoo Hall Academies Trust (CHAT) runs and manages five academies in Enfield: Four of these academies are in the primary sector (Cuckoo Hall, Woodpecker Hall, Kingfisher Hall and Enfield Heights) whilst the fifth, Heron Hall, is a newly-opened secondary academy, currently in its second year of operation.

All five CHAT academies provide high quality teaching within a friendly, supportive learning environment for pupils and students. They're all currently oversubscribed for places, underscoring their popularity in the local community.

In terms of location, Cuckoo Hall, Woodpecker Hall, and Heron Hall all occupy the same campus on Nightingale Road in Edmonton, whilst Kingfisher Hall and Enfield Heights have new purpose-built buildings in Enfield Highway.

Soon Heron Hall, our secondary academy, is due to move to its new premises in Ponders End, half-way between the Cuckoo Hall/Woodpecker Hall combined campus and the Kingfisher Hall site.

Benefits:

- Strong leadership team
- Happy and hard-working staff
- Lively and aspirational curriculum
- Enthusiastic, motivated and curious children
- Vibrant, purpose-built buildings
- Exciting opportunities for fast track, internal promotion and exchange within CHAT academies
- All-through provision
- Successful trust in North London
- Recruitment and retention schemes
- Further monetary benefits available throughout the year
- Opportunities to complete PGCE training for those with a degree

For further information on these vacancies and details on how to apply please visit www.chat-edu.org.uk and click on the "Recruitment" section, or contact our HR department on 0208 804 4126, or by email at recruitment@chat-edu.org.uk.

Closing date: Midday on Friday, 27th March 2015. Interview date: w/c 13th April 2015.

Cuckoo Hall Academies Trust is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of students and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. Applicants for this post must be willing to undergo child protection training. A full enhanced check with the Disclosure & Barring Service will be undertaken and references will be sought from previous employers prior to interview.

LLORIS' DELIGHT

Delight at victory: Hugo Lloris hailed the resolve of his Spurs team-mates

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

SKIPPER Hugo Lloris hailed his Tottenham Hotspur team-mates for the way in which they have responded to their Carling Cup anguish by securing successive Premier League wins.

Spurs saw their last hopes of winning silverware this season come to an end with a 2-0 defeat in the Carling Cup final at Wembley ten days ago – having bowed out of the Europa League the week before.

But, rather than dwell on their disappointment, Tottenham bounced back in style by beating Swansea City 3-2 on Wednesday last week before recording a 2-1 triumph at Queen's Park Rangers on Saturday.

These results have left Spurs lying sixth in the table, just three points adrift of fourth-placed Manchester United – whom they visit this weekend – and goalkeeper Lloris believes that they have shown real character.

"It was important to bounce back after Wembley," he said. "We had two wins and it will give us confidence for the next few matches. Every game is important at this time of the season so we have to carry on and try to get as many points as possible.

"Saturday's match was a team victory because we showed a great spirit. Everyone helped the team whether they started the game or came off the bench.

"In this kind of game you are never comfortable because it's a big fight on a small pitch and we kept fighting until the end."

The clash at QPR saw Harry Kane continue his terrific form by scoring both their goals, and the young striker believes that the three points could prove to be significant for Spurs.

"These are massive and tough games playing against teams who are fighting for their lives," he said after scoring his 25th and 26th goals of the season. "We knew exactly what we up against away from home at Loftus Road and you'll definitely take the three points. We're all delighted.

"It's a tough stadium to come and play at and a tough team to play against. We managed to get two goals ahead and were playing well but they got a goal back and that made it a nervous last ten minutes or so.

"But credit to the lads, we dug in when we had to and played well. I thought that we deserved to win."

And head coach Mauricio Pochettino had nothing but praise for Kane following another excellent display from the rising star.

"It was a fantastic performance, he scored two goals," Pochettino said. "He is young and can improve more."

Skolars axe Mbu after crushing loss

HEAD coach Joe Mbu has been sacked by the London Skolars following their humiliating 86-4 defeat at the hands of Swinton in the third round of rugby league's Challenge Cup.

The Skolars confirmed their decision to part company with Mbu on Monday morning, less than 48 hours after they were embarrassed by a side who play in the same division as them.

An announcement is yet to be made regarding Mbu's successor, but club captain and assistant coach Dave Williams and community development manager Matt Cuss have been put in temporary charge of the side.

Mbu had been part of the coaching team at the Skolars for five years – having previously played for the club – and chief executive Hector McNeil paid tribute to the impact that he has made during that time.

"I want to thank Joe for all his hard work and considerable achievements at the club," he said. "He took the club to its highest ever position in the league, narrowly missing out on a push for promotion. He has also built strong pathways and processes around the club, including burgeoning junior development pathways.

"Joe is a quality person and since he commenced as a junior has probably been the most successful player and coach the club has produced.

Joe has served the club well and it was a very tough decision to see him go. He will always be welcome at the club.

"Joe should be very proud of his achievements with the London Skolars and I think he will go on to achieve great things in whatever he does next. He is a good personal friend of mine and I want to wish him the best of luck for the future."

Skolars' director Mark Cros-ton added: "Joe is one of the most respected people London rugby league has seen and he is highly respected across the sport. He should be proud of his achievements at the club and will be missed by us all."

Borough forced to work hard for win

HARINGEY BOROUGH were forced to battle hard to secure an unconvincing last-gasp 1-0 victory at home to Enfield (1893) in the Essex Senior League on Saturday.

The stop-start nature of Borough's fixtures because of the wet weather over the past two months seems to have had an impact on their performances as they are lacking the fluency they showed earlier in the campaign and were a pale shadow of the side who had scored ten against Enfield (1893) the previous time the teams met.

The visitors were reduced to ten men after just 18 minutes but produced a resolute defensive display as Borough were unable to seriously test the keeper – although they were thwarted by a number of fine last-ditch blocks.

The same pattern continued in the second half and it looked as if the points would be shared until – with the game entering stoppage time – Daniel Aristidou delivering a corner from the right which Rakim Richards met with a looping header into the net.

However, the match came to an ugly ending as injury time saw three more red cards produced – two more for the Es and one to Borough – as tempers boiled over.

Meanwhile, Borough's first home match for more than two months had seen them edge of a 2-1 victory at home to basement side Sporting Bengal United on Tuesday last week – with Saleem Masri scoring both of their goals.

Haringey Borough, who lie second in the table a point adrift of Barking with three games in hand, visit FC Romania – one of two teams to have beaten them in the league this season – on Saturday (3pm) before hosting Ilford in the League Cup on Tuesday (7.45pm).

ENFIELD NORTH FOODBANK PARTNERSHIP

As a club that takes its community responsibilities seriously we are please to launch our partnership with Enfield North Foodbank. The foodbank provides food to local people in crisis.

The North Enfield Foodbank opened in April 2012 in response to a local community need for emergency food. It provides emergency food to anyone living in Enfield, who, for a variety of reasons, are experiencing a sudden crisis that means they do not have the resources to buy food for themselves or their family. Find out more at <http://northenfield.foodbank.org.uk/how-it-works>

There will be a collection point inside the ground on Saturday so please bring what you can.
